SUBJECT: NIGERIA: ECOWAS PRESIDENT "EXTREMELY CONCERNED" BY GUINEAN POLITICAL SITUATION

REF: STATE 89113 (NOTAL)

Classified By: Political Counselor James P. McAnulty
for reasons in Sections 1.4. (B) and (D)

11. (U) POLCOUNS, accompanied by POLOFFS, delivered demarche on Guinean elections (REFTEL) to Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) President Dr. Mohamed Ibn Chambas during an introductory call on August 28. POLCOUNS urged ECOWAS support for free, fair, and transparent elections without further delay and with sufficient budgetary support.

ECOWAS "EXTREMELY CONCERNED"

12. (C) Dr. Chambas fully agreed with the U.S. position, expressing "extreme concern" over recent political developments in Guinea. He assured POLCOUNS that "We are on the same page with you." Recalling earlier Contact Group efforts to press for fair elections, he noted that the group would visit Conakry again shortly. He warned that, while junta leader Captain Dadis Camara said he convened the Ad Hoc Committee on Elections to "clean up" constitutional clauses prejudicial to Guinean democracy, Camara now demonstrated "different intentions." He expressed concern over the region's recent return to a cycle of military coups, despite international attention and involvement. The ECOWAS President called for the international community to "stand firm" in pressing for credible, transparent elections in which the junta should not serve both as "player" and "referee."

"CIVILIAN COUP" IN NIGER
-----

13. (C) Dr. Chambas expressed serious concern about recent developments in neighboring Niger, where President Mamadou Tadjia had effectively conducted a "civilian coup d'etat" by attempting to perpetuate his rule under a new Constitution that "totally breached" the old one. He opined that Niger would serve as a "first test" of international resolve, with the junta in Guinea watching developments there closely.
